

After 10 Years

The assassination of John F. Kennedy brought sudden, unaccustomed attention to a few individuals who found themselves by accident on the periphery of a national tragedy. Here is how some of them have fared in the years since.

W. Kemp Clark . . . Chief of neurosurgery at Parkland Memorial Hospital . . . Pronounced the President dead at 1 P.M., Central Standard Time, Nov. 22, 1963 . . . Now professor of neurosurgery and chairman of the neurosurgery department at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas.

Marina Pruskova Oswald . . . Russian-born wife of Lee Harvey Oswald and mother of his two children . . . Received donations after Oswald's death totaling more than $70,000 . . . Married Kenneth Jess Porter, a tavern operator, in 1965 . . . Sued the Government for $500,000 over confiscation of Oswald's property and was awarded $17,729 this year . . . Resides with family in Rockwall, northeast of Dallas.

Mrs. Marguerite C. Oswald . . . Mother of Oswald . . . Believes that her son did not murder President Kennedy . . . Lives in Fort Worth, Tex., where she is founder and director of the Lee Harvey Oswald Memorial Library and Research Institute.

Mrs. Marie Tippit . . . Widow of Dallas patrolman shot by Oswald . . . Received contributions from more than 28,000 people totaling over $647,000, on which she has paid no taxes . . . Married Dallas Police Lieut. Harry Dean Thomas in 1967 . . . Lives with family in Dallas.

Sarah T. Hughes . . . Federal judge for the Northern District of Texas who swore in President Johnson as the 36th President of the United States. . . . Only woman ever to administer the oath of office to an American President . . . Now 77 years old, she is still active on the bench.